

What should I know about United in Mission?

- The youth and adults who participate in United in Mission volunteers. They will complete the work in a manner that is safe and in conformity to local building codes. They are not professional contractors.
- For safety and security, homeowners must be at home while work is being performed.
- All materials are supplied by the United in Mission program according to the resources available to us. Should a homeowner like something specific to be used (such as a custom paint color) you are welcome to supply it for our use.
- Participants consider themselves to be servants of God. They expect nothing in return for their labor and friendship. They will supply their own food and drink and are unable to accept gifts of this nature from the homeowner. They will also leave the site to use bathroom facilities.
- Homeowners are encouraged to thank the participants by attending our "Community Celebration" during the mission week.

How will I know if my project has been selected?

There are many factors beyond our control that will determine how much work we can accomplish in our short week in your community. Weather conditions, skill level of our participants and available resources are only a few of the factors that apply. Homeowners will be contacted at least 24 hours in advance if we are sending a team to their home during our mission week. We regret that this is short notice but hope you will understand that this policy allows us to serve the greatest number of homeowners. We thank you in advance for your patience and flexibility.

United in Mission work teams will be in your community the week of:
July 21-25, 2025
